

Last summer, Carlene Carter played free at an all day event at Penn's Landing, but you had to have tickets from the local country station to get in. This year it's not free and you don't have to wake up early to see her. Carter got her act together on last year's I Fell In Love a hot spunky album of mostly original modern country tunes that is firmly in the tradition started by her famous family. In person, she lived up to the album's promise displaying the same vivacity and energy.. Backed by an excellent band, with top notch material, she is easily among the best that country has to offer and also a lot of fun.

Carlene Carter with Jack Quigley: Sat., Aug. 22 at 9:30 p.m. at the Chestnut Cabaret, 38th and Chestnut Sts., 382-1201.
--Peter Brown